This project is based on creating walk-able clusters of restaurants, so we assume that the first stop on your trip will be a train station. Buses are excluded from consideration because they tend to be less new-arrival friendly. This project uses data gathered from Bay Area Rapid Transit(BART) and the San Francisco Municipal Transit Authority (SFMUNI.) The Restaurant information was accessed through Foursquare.com. Directions were generated by the Open Street Maps Project.